

Springfield . . . Today

Bi-Monthly Newsletter to the Residents and Businesses of Springfield

www.springfieldmich.com

VOLUME 6
ISSUE 4
November 2011

Springfield Welcomes What A Do Theatre

What A Do Theatre is a non-profit theatre company that has entertained people in the Battle Creek area with live shows, including Twelve Angry Men, Affluenza, and Doubt, A Parable.

The Theatre will formally open its new Springfield location with a showing of The Christmas Schooner November 25th and 26th. Additional showings will be held December 2-3, 8-10, and 16-17. Tickets can be bought online or at the door, but seating is limited, as What A Do tries to offer an intimate environment for all theatre-goers.

For more information on What A Do Theatre, please visit their website at whatado.org or find them on facebook. You can also call the box office at 734-744-8598 or visit them at the theatre: 4071 West Dickman Rd - at the corner of Dickman Rd and Military . . . Just outside of the Farmers Market!

Let's welcome them to our community . . . go out and enjoy a show!

Springfield Farmers Market Open Year Round!

We are proud to announce that the Springfield Farmers Market has become the only farmers market in the area to remain open to the public year round! 2001-12 will be our first winter market!

The Market will continue to operate each Saturday from 11a to 3p now through April, with some planned closures for the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Years holidays. The annual WINTER CRAFT SHOW will be Nov 19 from 9a to 2a.

Market goers can expect to find a wide variety of goods throughout the winter. We will have hot food prepared each week by Turkey Heaven, and vendors will offer meats, cheeses, baked goods, popcorn, candies, crafts, and even fresh produce!

For more information on the Farmers Market, please contact Kris at 965-2354.